Screen Printing Laser Alignment System

The Laser Targeting System is the future of alignment technology for the screen printing market. It is a laser system that speeds up production and helps eliminate error. The lasers produce light on top of the shirt so you know exactly where your image will be on every garment. This innovative tool will keep you ahead of the competition by saving you time and money. No more wasted shirts, no more wasted time.

Laser Targeting Systems was voted one of the most innovative products to hit the decorated apparel industry in five years. This is a new patented technology for the alignment of your media with your image. These systems work with manual presses; automatic presses and heat transfer machines. Laser Targeting Systems will revolutionize the way your shop prints by eliminating your set-up time on an average of 90% and reducing your loading time by 40%. These numbers will put more profit in your pocket!

The lasers produce light on top of your media, allowing you to see where your image will print before it actually prints. The targets make alignment as easy as 1,2,3.

Pocketed tees are a breeze now, along with tanks, girly shirts, darks and everything in-between. Changing styles and sizes won't slow down production ever again.

Laser Targeting Systems is easy to use. Simply run a test pellow to see where your image will be. Then, line up the lasers to your image. Next, place your garment on the pallet and determine where you want the image. It's that easy! As you print you will find the center of your shirt with a line laser that guides your eye to the center every time. Production time will be reduced because you know exactly where you need to place the shirt. You also won't be making rags out of mis-printed tees anymore, the lasers will tell you exactly where your image will print on every shirt.

Laser Targeting Systems will give you 100% accuracy in the placement of your media. This innovative tool will keep you ahead of the competition by saving you time and money. No more wasted shirts, no more wasted time. Add more dollars to your bottom line with your new Laser Targeting System!
